

Well ya see, Norm, it's like this... A herd of buffalo can only move as fast as the slowest buffalo. And when the herd is hunted, it is the slowest and weakest ones at the back that are killed first. This natural selection is good for the herd as a whole, because the general speed and health of the whole group keeps improving by the regular killing of the weakest members. In much the same way, the human brain can only operate as fast as the slowest brain cells. Excessive intake of alcohol, as we know, kills brain cells. But naturally, it attacks the slowest and weakest brain cells first. In this way, regular consumption of beer eliminates the weaker brain cells, making the brain a faster and more efficient machine. That's why you always feel smarter after a few beers.

—Cliff Clavin (Cheers)

If you ever reach total enlightenment while drinking beer, I bet it makes beer shoot out your nose.

—Deep Thought, Jack Handy

All right, brain, I don't like you and you don't like me so let's just do this and I'll get back to killing you with beer." —Homer Simpson

Don't you know alcohol kills brain cells? Any damn brain cell that can't live through a good drunk deserves to die—you're getting rid of all them underachieving ones. I'm improving your efficiency.

Norm: Morning, everybody!

Woody: Beer, Mr. Peterson?

Norm: Little early in the day isn't it, Woody?

Woody: Little early for a beer?

Norm: No, for stupid questions. So float a corn flake in it.

Woody: Would you like a beer, Mr. Peterson?

Norm: No, I'd like a dead cat in a glass.

Sometimes when I reflect back on all the beer I drink I feel ashamed. Then I look into the glass and think about the workers in the brewery and all of their hopes and dreams. If I didn't drink this beer, they might be out of work and their dreams would be shattered. Then I say to myself, "It is better that I drink this beer and let their dreams come true than be selfish and worry about my liver.

Norm: You know what I love?

Sam: Beer Norm?

Norm: Sure, I'll have one.

Old Man: What if I bought this guy a beer?

Norm: Buy me a pitcher and you can kiss me on the lips.

Woody: Pour you a beer, Mr. Peterson?

Norm: Oh, alright, but stop me at one. No, make that one-thirty.

Sam: What'll you have Normie?

Norm: Well, I'm in a gambling mood Sammy. I'll take a glass of whatever comes out of that tap.

Sam: Looks like beer, Norm.

Norm: Call me Mister Lucky.

Woody: How would a beer feel, Mr. Peterson?

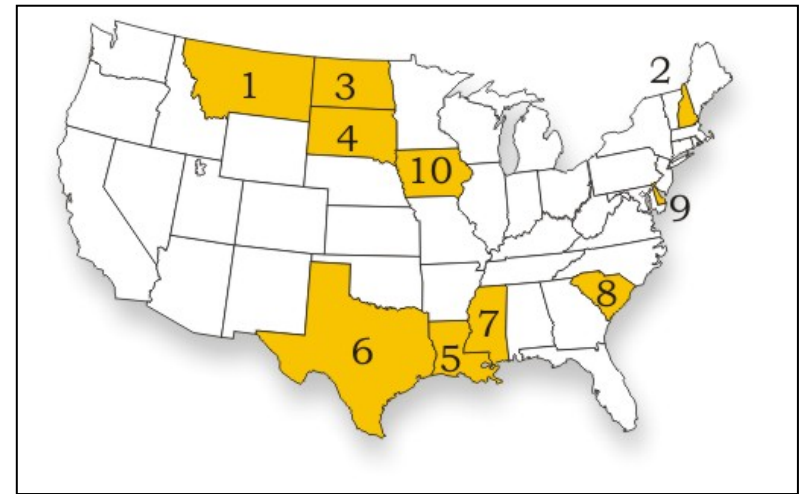

Norm: Pretty nervous if I was in the room.
